THE DICKENS UNIVERSE

JULY 31–AUGUST 6, 1994

JOIN US TO EXPLORE THE WORLD OF DICKENS... ON THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA'S SANTA CRUZ CAMPUS

Presented by The Dickens Project
1. The Plot

(HARD TIMES)

This summer, the Dickens Project will present the Dickens Universe, its fourteenth-annual Summer Institute on Charles Dickens. Distinguished scholars from the various UC campuses and other major universities will offer lectures, small discussion groups, films, videos, readings from Dickens's work, a book fair, daily workshops for teachers, Victorian teas, other festive events, and one or two surprise attractions. The comprehensive program is designed both for teachers and the general public. The only prerequisite is a fondness for reading Dickens and talking about his work.

The Institute will focus on Hard Times (1854), Dickens's shortest novel and arguably his most powerful. It is an indictment of the industrial society and its indifference to humane values, a careful and autobiographical examination of failed marriages, and, finally, it is Dickens's most sustained defense of fantasy and the imagination, on which his own work depends. Hard Times portrays life in a factory town, a place of belching chimneys, polluted rivers, stunted lives, squalid slums. Coketown is physically dominated by machines and smokestacks, intellectually dominated by the rigidly utilitarian theories of Mr. Gradgrind, founder of the school where only fact are permitted, where emotion, fancy, beauty have no place. Dickens broadens his picture of the industrial age to show us Mr. Bounderby, factory owner and self-made man; Stephen Blackpool, one of the Coketown's "hands"; Slackbridge, the union organizer. Against Coketown and its harsh realities, he sets the performers in Squeers's Circus, and the child of the Circus, Sissy Jupe, with her gifts of sympathy, fantasy, and story-telling.

We will be exploring Hard Times critically, as a novel, and also in terms of its historical and biographical context. To assist in common reference, please equip yourself with the Penguin or Oxford World's Classics edition of the novel.

2. The Characters

(OUR MUTUAL FRIENDS)

COORDINATOR

John O. Jordan, Associate Professor of English, teaches Victorian literature, especially Dickens, at the University of California, Santa Cruz. He is Director of the Dickens Project.

FACULTY

Murray Baumgarten, Professor of English and Comparative Literature at UC Santa Cruz, is Founding Director of the Dickens Project and Editor-in-chief of a multi-volume edition of the works of Thomas Carlyle. He has published studies of Dickens and other Victorian writers and serves on the editorial board of Dickens Studies Annual.

Professor Philip Collins of the University of Leicester in Great Britain is one of the world's foremost Dickens scholars. He is the author of Dickens and Crime, Dickens and Education and many other studies of Dickens's life and writings.

Professor John Glavin teaches nineteenth-century literature and playwriting at Georgetown University. He has written articles on Oscar Wilde, Murial Spark, and Anthony Trollope. His plays God's Boys and The Winter Cup have been staged by the Philadelphia Company.

Novelist, psychoanalyst, and literary scholar, Albert Hutter is the author of many essays on Dickens and on detection in Victorian fiction. Professor Hutter teaches at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Professor Gerhard Joseph of Lehman College and the Graduate Center of the City University of New York has written widely on Victorian poetry and prose, including essays on Dickens. His books include Tennysonian Love and Tennyson and the Text: the Weaver's Shuttle.

Professor Fred Kaplan of Queens College and the Graduate Center of the City University of New York is an editor of Dickens Studies Annual. His publications include Dickens and Messmerism, Dickens: A Biography, and Henry James: The Imagination of Genius. He is currently at work on a new biography of Mark Twain.

Dr. David Parker is Curator of the Dickens House Museum in London. He has published many studies of Dickens's life and writings.

Gordon Philo is an independent scholar living in London. Under the name of Charles Forsyte, he has published many essays on Dickens and is the author of The Decoding of Edwin Drood.

Associate Professor Hilary Schor teaches English Victorian literature at the University of Southern California. She is the author of Scheherazade in the Marketplace: Elizabeth Gaskell and the Victorian Novel.

Robert Tracy is Professor of English and Irish Literature at UC Berkeley. He is the author of Trollope's Later Novels and of many studies of Dickens and other Victorian writers.

Regenia Gagnier is Professor of English and Director of the Program in Modern Thought and Literature at Stanford University. Her books include Idylls of the Marketplace: Oscar Wilde and the Victorian Public, and Subjectivities: A History of Self Representation in Britain, 1832-1920.

Leona Toker is a Senior Lecturer in English at Hebrew University. Her work includes Eloquent Reticence: Withholding Information in Fictional Narrative and articles on the works of Gulag survivors. She recently edited Commitment in Reflection: Essays in Literature and Moral Philosophy.

Professor Catherine Gallagher teaches English at the University of California, Berkeley. She is the author of The Industrial Reformation of English Fiction and Nobody's Story: The Vanishing Acts of Women Writers in the Marketplace.

Anne Humphreys is a Professor of English at Lehman College and the Graduate School, City University of New York. She has written Travels into the Poor Man's Country: The Work of Henry Mayhew as well as articles on the nineteenth-century press, popular culture, and Dickens.

Nick Visser formerly edited the South African journal English in Africa and has published widely in the fields of South African writing and history and theory of the novel. He teaches in the English department at the University of Cape Town.

Professor George Ford, of the University of Rochester, edited the Norton critical edition of Hard Times with Sylvère Monod. He also wrote The Dickens Critics and Dickens and His Readers.

Sylvia Manning is Vice Provost and Professor of English at the University of Southern California. She has published essays on Dickens, Tennyson, and other Victorian writers and is the author of Dickens As Satirist and Hard Times, An Illustrated Bibliography.
4. The Setting

(A TALE OF TWO CITIES)

Credit and Fees

We will be reading Hard Times and discussing Coketown in a setting as lovely as Coketown is grim. The Santa Cruz campus, 75 miles southeast of San Francisco and 50 miles north of Carmel, is perched on a hill high above the city of Santa Cruz, a place of open vistas, redwood groves, and nearly tame deer. There is easy access to Santa Cruz's many shops, restaurants, and beaches. The climate is mild: cool mornings and evenings, warm afternoons. While we dwell imaginatively in Coketown with Dickens and his characters, we will simultaneously enjoy the amenities of the most beautiful of the University of California's campuses.

Since many people summer in Santa Cruz, off-campus housing is usually in short and expensive supply. For this reason, we suggest that you stay at Kresge College, where all conference events are held. Campus parking permits and meals at the dining hall are included in the room rates. Accommodations at Kresge feature two-bedroom suites, with common living room. Kresge is designed to resemble a traditional Mediterranean village, along a single winding street. There is a short walk among the redwoods to nearby Porter College for meals.

The registration fee for the conference is $593 for a single room and $520 for a double per person. Non-residents pay $175. The registration fee includes all programs and parties.

You may receive 2 units of credit (quarter system) in Literature; please indicate your wish on the registration form. The course is approved to be repeated for credit. Students taking the course for credit are expected to write a paper 5–7 typewritten pages in length, which will be due August 31. The topic of the paper will be discussed at the program.

For More Information

If you have questions not answered by this brochure, please write or phone the Dickens Project, 354 Kresge College, University of California, Santa Cruz, 95064, (408) 459-2103. A detailed schedule of activities will be sent to all registrants.

Cancellations

Cancellations must be received in writing before July 21. A service charge of $30 will be withheld from the registration fee refund. Housing cancellations must be arranged by 5 PM, July 29, or one night's meals and lodging will be charged.

5. The Reading Public

(ALL THE YEAR ROUND)

As part of its continuing effort to make Dickens's novels accessible to students and educators alike, the Dickens Project has published The Charles Dickens Resource Handbooks. Focusing separately on three Dickens novels—Great Expectations, Hard Times, and David Copperfield—each package in the series contains a 300-page text of social, historical, and literary commentary; a video and audio tapes of the Dickens Players performing scenes from the novel; a slide collection of relevant scenes from nineteenth-century England; and the software (Apple IIe) for writing exercises. David Copperfield includes a student-designed game.

The handbooks provide representative materials that clarify, develop, and enrich the teaching and reading of Dickens's novels. The materials chosen for the handbooks were included for their special value to the study and teaching of each novel. Many selections are from texts to which teachers do not have ready access.

The cost of each resource handbook package is only $76, which includes shipping and handling. The handbooks will be available for inspection at the Dickens Universe.

The Dickens Project offers other publications which may be of interest to conference participants. Professor Philip Collins appears in a video performance of ten selections from his delightful repertoire of Dickens adaptations. We also offer two re-prints by Project scholars: Charles Dickens and His Publishers by Robert Patten illuminates Dickens's activity as a professional writer and describes his connection to important developments of the British publishing trade. Robert Newson's Dickens on the Romantic Side of Familiar Things: Bleak House and the Novel Tradition, is a discussion of the interplay of the "romantic" and the "familiar" and the implications of this polarity in understanding the novel as a literary form.

By Special Arrangement

The Baytree Bookstore of UC Santa Cruz will supply copies of the Penguin edition of Hard Times by mail to conference participants. Just indicate your wish on the registration form and include $9 with your order. The book will be sent directly by the Baytree; if you have questions about your order, please call them at 408-459-4216.
